

ENCORE STAND

The Encore Stand combines the proven mechanical structure and durability of the popular Deluxe2 Stand, with a modern, sophisticated appearance.

The Encore Stand is built around the Programmable Electronic Room Controller (perc) System. The perc is an electronic illumination system that can automatically control any programmed room-lighting function during the course of an exam.

An electronic release button for slit lamp arm adjustments, a chair elevation switch, and a slit lamp switch are all conveniently located on the lower slit lamp arm.

A state-of-the-art membrane console panel controls the slit lamp, chart projector, accessory instrument, overhead room lights, lamp brightness, chair elevation, voltage for a corded instrument, and a back-lit status display window for the perc system.

An efficient counterbalanced refractor arm provides one-handed, immediate three-way locking of the refractor.

Three rechargeable wells and three 115V electrical receptacles.

A tough, leather-tone texture protects the Encore Stand from heavy daily use and a soft misty-grey painted finish gives it an attractive appearance that blends with any office decor.

Our goal in designing the MARCO ENCORE STAND was simple — establish a new benchmark for ophthalmic instrument stands. And after setting the industry standard with the renowned Marco Deluxe 2 Stand, we knew exactly what it would take.

The Encore Stand combines the proven, mechanical structure of the Deluxe 2 Stand with a modern, sophisticated appearance that includes the Marco Programmable Electronic Room Controller (perc) System. The perc is an electronic illumination system that can automatically control any programmed room-lighting function during the course of an exam. Remote instruments such as a chart projector, fixation devices and muscle lights can also be controlled by the perc system. The end result is that the perc system will improve the tempo and efficiency of your practice.

Although we have redefined the electronic technology of the ophthalmic instrument stand, our main focus was to maintain the quality of materials and internal mechanisms that created the reputation of the Deluxe 2 Stand. Marco instrument stands have always been noted for their rugged durability, and the Encore was built around that same philosophy. The look is modern, but the innovation and quality is strictly a Marco tradition.
